DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
3. A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. See MPEP § 2173.05(c). Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claim 1 recites the broad recitation motor vehicle, and the claim also recites "in particular for an excavator", which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Asche et al. (US 6,431,299 B1).

Asche et al. discloses an excavator 10 comprising an air intake 64, a duct including first longitudinal duct 56 and second transverse duct 30, radiator 42, a fan 46, and pivoting bonnet panel 41, wherein said duct extends along the longitudinal direction of the excavator, the intake is at the front, and the radiator is in the rear, as shown in figures 1-5.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3618

7. Claims 8 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Asche et al., as applied to claim 7 above, and further in view of Sugano (US 6,540,036 B1).

Asche et al. does not disclose the battery or fuel tank being cooled by the air duct system. Sugano discloses an excavator cooling system wherein the tank 17 and battery 19 are cooled by the cooling system, wherein the fuel tank forms part of the duct and the battery is housed in the duct, as shown in figures 1-3 and recited in column 2, lines 39-42. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have provided the excavator of Asche et al. with the fuel tank and battery in the air duct in order to keep them cool.

8. Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Asche et al. as modified by Sugano, as applied to claim 9 above, and further in view of Akira et al. (US 5,816,351 A).

Neither Asche et al. nor Sugano disclose a second air inlet with deflector. Akira et al. does disclose an excavator with second air inlet 14b with deflector 6b, as shown in figure 1. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have provided the excavator of Asche et al. as modified by Sugano, with the second air inlet and deflector of Akira et al. in order to increase the amount of air flow through the duct.
